

TOCCATA's 4th of July performance of patriotic works and selections from Broadway and opera returns to Bartley Ranch on July 6th. The performance will have free admission. Preferred tickets will also be sold.

The concert will also be performed in Gardnerville (7/1-4pm St. Gall), Incline (7/3 - 7pm St. Patricks) and South Lake Tahoe (7/8-3:30pm St. Theresa)

The concert opens with a rousing medley of our armed forces' themes. Members of the audience who have served are encouraged to stand and be recognized when their service's hymn is played. This is followed by Leroy Anderson's equally rousing Bugler's Holiday.

Members of the chorus, joined by guest artist, Broadway's Melody Moore, will perform a number of solos and duets

The chorus will perform works including the stirring Battle Hymn of the Republic

The next work, Souza's Start and Stripes Forever, will feature an auction of Maestro Rawie's baton. The lucky winner will conduct the orchestra in the exciting march.

Following a new arrangement of God Bless America, we will have a second auction. This will be for our largest bass drum beater – the winner will be invited to the stage to provide the cannon blasts for Tchaikovsky's brilliant 1812 Overture.

We conclude with America the Beautiful with the audience invited to sing along with the orchestra and chorus.
